Do you have a great business idea? Then consider attending the Idea Incubator!

GSDC, in partnership with Starting Up Now and Goodcity will host the second cohort of the Idea Incubator this fall, beginning November 7, 2016.

This 6 week in-class session will allow you to explore what is required to transition your good idea into a profit earning venture or organize a formal business plan that can be used to recruit new partners, other investors or funders.

The Idea Incubator will provide all attendees with online access to business planning software and research tools through Starting Up Now; a Starting Up Now workbook; one-on-one consultations with an experienced small business consultant; and a cohort of colleagues to refine ideas with.
